It's had it's day. Midweek matches in the winter are a complete turnoff. Teams need to be concentrating on their league fixtures.

Lack of interest from fans (from all clubs - based on attendances this season) and the number of games played in the league and other cup competitions already.

Too many games either this as to go or the league cup

I was happy with the EFL Trophy in it's previous L1 and L2 format, but that model appears to be financially unsustainable. Given a choice between selling out to the Premier League or parking the competition entirely, the choice seems clear.

Early rounds are always poorly supported and clubs eliminated make no money and play weakened sides. North and South split still means long travel and costs for clubs and supporters. Could competition group games be played pre season, rather than mid week in Winter?

Pointless waste of time, clogs up the fixture list

3/4/2017 3:49 PM

Cost, pure and simple. Peoples wages do not keep up with inflation, so they have to pick and chose between games. This competition is going to make some teams lose money when staging it.

Is it worth the money to put a game on. Its never a well supported comp anyway. Nice in later rounds at wembly but thats all. Changes last year killed it for me

The competition is a joke and an embarsment for the football leauge. Calling the bigger team 'u23' was a joke their was premier leauge winners in the form of Wes Brown and the likes of Charlie Adam playing. Ridicilous competition; you should have listened to the fans and not done what your did. If your trying to encourage developoment and this reverts back to previous formats their should be a requirement for teams to play 5 who have come through their accadamy.

Too much Football devalues the game and the financial rewards of this competition are not there unless you reach the final

3/2/2017 3:43 PM

Pretty pointless cup

The competition clearly couldnt hold its own with just league 1 and 2 otherwise they never would of tried to do anything different. You either revert back to league 1 and 2 or cease it. And as the league 1 and 2 format clearly didnt have enough funds to make it worth while you might aswell sack it off. The u23 may of had a chance of working had both teams been able to field u23 sides without fines and if the 'b' teams had actually fielded all u23 players. But you have had your chance and the footfall spoke for everyone.

Cheers for knackerig a perfectly good competition!

Ruinaton of the Lower League Cup. Absolutely pathetic. Never be the same now to me... Even worse was John Nixon saying at Forum they were 'advised' to vote the changes in. Not make your own minds up?!

3/2/2017 2:01 PM

Obviously the powers that be do not want the completion the way it was and they were not prepared to listen . People who run the game/clubs are so far apart from the fans that we should call it a day
